

Dear Parent or Guardian:

With the increased use of digital tools in the classroom to enhance learning, it's more important than ever for the students in our community to feel confident navigating the internet. The internet has become a necessity for completing schoolwork, not to mention an essential part of higher learning and job searching. I wish our community could put everything our students need in their backpack at the end of the school day – including an internet connection. While that's not possible, we can help connect families with local partners that can provide our students with the resources needed to set our kids up for success. That's why we are raising awareness of the availability of low-cost internet service, such as Cox's Connect2Compete program. Having the tools needed to compete in today's classrooms and organizations makes a real difference. Every day, I see eager students ready to embrace the world of opportunity that an internet connection at home can provide.

The Connect2Compete program is available to families who:

- have at least one child attending a K-12 school
- participate in one of these government subsidy programs: The National School Lunch Program, SNAP, TANF, WIC, Head Start, LIHEAP, or Public Housing
- have not had Cox Connect2Compete internet services in the home within the last 90 days.

If your household meets these criteria, you could qualify to receive low-cost, home internet with wifi for only $9.95 per month. There are no deposits or annual contracts, and installation and in-home wifi is included at no additional charge.

Find out if you qualify by visiting www.cox.com/c2c.

Warmly,
